

Online Safety for Parents

Now we are up and running on our exciting new website, Mrs Pennington will add the promised guidance and ideas from the Online safety evening.

One of the main concerns of our parents was how to protect children at home with online safety. Every home is set up differently so this is a difficult area, but this is a link which has many helpful hints and ideas to set up fire walls and parental controls for peace of mind.

Internet Matters guides cover a lot of devices, games, social networks etc:

<https://www.internetmatters.org/parental-controls#choose-parental-controls-guide>

Item for Parents

Feel free to copy this section to keep your parents regularly updated.

Navigating the internet can be challenging for children. Distinguishing between real and fake content, avoiding negativity, and handling mistakes can be tough. To address this, the NSPCC have introduced six positive online habits. These tips empower parents to discuss online well-being with their families, to help develop informed, confident, and happy internet use. Their new Positively Online campaign offers content, videos, and a quiz to support parents in guiding their children through the online world:

<https://www.nspcc.org.uk/keeping-children-safe/online-safety/online-wellbeing/positively-online>